Cable company offers amnesty

Anyone in the Glades who is illegally receiving cable service may avoid legal action by reporting the service to Sunbelt Cable anytime from Thursday, Feb. 23 until Sunday, March 4.

Kevin McLaughlin, vice president of Sunbelt, said those who report during the amnesty period would be able to either subscribe for cable, or disconnect the service with no charge for service already received.

"We're out to save everyone some money and embarrassment," he said.

Those who do not take advantage of the amnesty period will be turned over to police, McLaughlin said. The company will be auditing Belle Glade and South Bay beginning March 5 to determine who is receiving service without paying.

The Pahokee area will also be audited following Belle Glade, McLaughlin said.

"We're going to do everything in our power, with the cooperation of the police department and the sheriff's office, to make an issue out of it," McLaughlin said.

He noted that those illegally receiving cable service could be facing a fine of at least $1,000 and up to three times the amount of services illegally obtained.

The cable company can determine who is receiving service by inspecting the exterior hookups of the house, McLaughlin said. "Chances are very good that we are going to catch them, if not on the first try then on the second," he said.

The service auditing will be an ongoing process, McLaughlin said. Those who reconnect the cable service after being disconnected will be dealt with in an especially severe manner.

Anyone who is receiving cable service without payment is liable, whether or not they hooked up the service personally, McLaughlin said.

Some 5,600 people subscribe to Sunbelt Cable in the Glades. McLaughlin said he would guess that on top of this some 20-25 percent receive service illegally.

The cable pirating is not unique to the area, but is an industry wide problem, McLaughlin said.

While the auditing process is neither expensive nor simple, the cable company will save money in the long run by spending money, he said.

Raider grad off to USFL

Sunday, Feb. 26, marks the start of a professional football career for a Belle Glade native. Glades Central Community High School 1980 graduate Wilford Morgan, 22, son of Pauline McDonald, of Belle Glade, will take the field Sunday as a member of the Tampa Bay Bandits of the United States Football League. The team opens its season in Tampa against the Houston Gamblers.

Morgan is listed as a backup wide receiver on the Bandits' tentative depth chart. As a member of the team's developmental squad, he probably won't see action this Sunday, but he is on the team and should get an on-the-field shot later in the season.

Mrs. McDonald said her son called Monday, Feb. 13, after surviving the Bandits' final cuts. He sounded excited, she said, adding the whole family is very proud of his accomplishments. The Bandits played their final exhibition game of the season, Saturday in Orlando and Mrs. McDonald, for the first time, saw her son play as a professional.

"He didn't play too much, but when he played, I thought he did very well," she said, the pride and excitement evident in her voice.

Willie C. McDonald, Morgan's track coach at Glades Central, said he is confident his former student can make it as a pro.

"Wilford is one of those determined athletes, the harder things are, the more he works," McDonald said.

After talking to Morgan over Christmas vaca-

Commissioners apply for police grant

SOUTH BAY -City commissioners agreed to apply for a $35,000 to $45,000 state grant for the police department to be targeted toward juvenile delinquency.

South Bay Police Chief Roy Humston requested commissioners apply for the grant which would be used to hire a police officer, records clerk, a fully equipped patrol car and other materials.

Humston said all additional personnel and equipment would be used to deal with juvenile delinquency.

"It would be strictly for going out in the community and in the school, setting up programs..." Humston said.

Application for the grant by no way guarantees that South Bay will receive any of the funds, Humston said, adding they will probably be competing with several cities for the money.

If the grant is approved, the city is not obligated to match funds, or spend any of its own funds in the program, Humston said. The city's major costs would be just in preparing application for the grant, he said.

The only drawback in the program would be that unless the city could place the additional employees whenever the program expires, commissioners could be responsible for unemployment benefits, Humston said.

If the program is terminated after a year, or two, the city has no obligation to retain the extra employees, Humston said.

In other business, commissioners asked Humston and City Manager Lomax Harrelle to investigate problems with off-street parking in parts of South Bay.

Byron Walker, speaking from the audience, requested commissioners consider some type of action which would limit off-street parking. Parking problems in some parts of the city, such as NW 3rd St., have escalated severely, he said.

The offstreet parking limits view of the driver, narrows the street and is unattractive, Walker listed. He noted there have been up to 23 cars parked along both sides of 3rd Street at one time.

Walker continued that trucks parked along SR 80 have made early morning driving hazardous, severely limiting the driver's view of intersections.

Humston told commissioners that no parking zone signs have just recently been requested from the State Department of Transportation for the south side of SR 80, running east from the canal.

Currently signs prohibit night-time parking. Humston pointed out most of the problems are caused during the day.

Rape prevention steps outlined

By TOM KISKEN

BELLE GLADE - Rape is a result of opportunity and vulnerability.

If people guard themselves against these two factors, the possibility of rape is significantly reduced, according to a security representative of the Palm Beach County School Board.

Gary Frechette, program specialist with the School Board's Department of Security, explained why rape occurs and how people can make themselves less likely to be victims, at a meeting of Belle Glade Crime Watch, Thursday, Feb. 16.

Frechette said, "All the rapist needs is an opportunity and a vulnerable target."

Anyone is a potential rapist, Frechette said. The myths which say only strange men lurking in alleys are rapists are false.

"The man sitting next to you could be a rapist," Frechette added.

The potential rapist may pick anyone to be his victim, Frechette emphasized, saying he has seen cases with victims ranging in ages from 2-months old to 91-years-old. There has also been an increasing amount of rapes against men, he said.

Most rapists know their victims, Frechette said, recalling one incident where a middle aged secretary was brutally assaulted.

The woman blocked the details of the attack out of her mind and only weeks later when a repair man smiled at her at the office, did she recall who the rapist was—the repair man.

She told police that he had visited the office regularly to repair equipment and that they had become friendly acquaintances, asking question about each other families and exchanging other small talk.

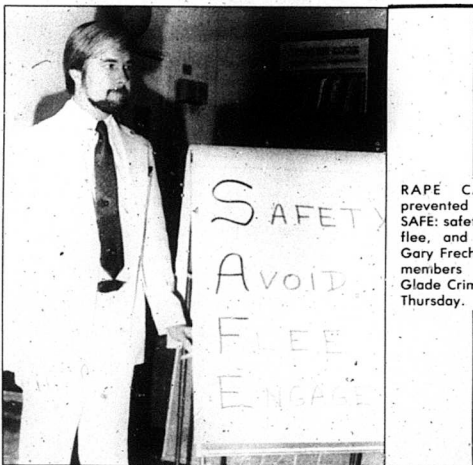

During the rape, he used the information gained from these chats to force her to comply with his demands, threatening the lives of her family if she resisted.

The first step toward preventing rape is to protect your vulnerability, Frechette said. He listed several safety steps which could deter the potential rapist (see chart).

Over half of the reported rapes occur in the home, and rape prevention should start there, Frechette said.

For those who live alone, Frechette urged, special caution. Don't advertise that you live

Hawkins was reportedly invited to speak by the Glades

Woman charged with DUI twice

SOUTH BAY—After leading police on a long chase along US 27, a woman was arrested on her second drunk driving charge in four days.

Barbara G. Burke, 43, was arrested Monday morning, Feb. 20, on charges of leaving the scene of an accident, driving while intoxicated, fleeing to elude and driving without a license.

Police arrested Burke on Friday on charges of drunk driving and driving without a license. After the first arrest, Burke was released on her own recognizance after a day in jail on Sunday, Dec. 19.

At about 6:15 a.m. Monday, Patrolman Paul Deribas responded to a call of an accident at the Chevron Station on US 27 in South Bay. He reported Burke was at the station and upon seeing the patrol car smashed into a car behind her, and fled south on US 27. With Deribas and Sheriff's Glades Substation officials pursuing her, Burke reportedly began a chase which would take her 10 miles south into Broward County on US 27.

Burke reportedly reversed her course of action twice and on several occasions drove in the wrong lane of traffic.

She was finally apprehended northbound about four miles south of the Palm Beach County line on US 27 when sheriff's officials barricaded her Florida north with patrol cars.

After original bond, set at $500, was not met, Burke was released Tuesday, Jan. 21 on recognizance.

In part of the investigation following her first arrest, made by Patrolman M.C. Stahl, police found that Burke had her Florida driving's license revoked in November 1982 for driving while intoxicated.

Police rescue man

BELLE GLADE—Police talked a man to safety who had barricaded himself in his home and was threatening suicide, Sunday, Feb. 19.

Mario Rodriguez, 225 N.W. 13th St., was turned over to the Western Palm Beach County Mental Health Clinic Crisis Unit after being rescued by police.

Detective John Carney reported officers responded to a call Sunday about noon to find Rodriguez barricaded in his home with a rifle, threatening to kill himself.

The officers were able to persuade Rodriguez to give up the gun and exit from the house, Carney reported.

concern, citing several areas where parking has become a problem.

Mayor Don Tanner asked Humston and Harrelle to investigate the problem and suggest action to the board.

Humston noted that on NW 3rd St. alternate off-street parking (one side of the street) is legal.

In other business, commissioners approved several resolutions, stating:

•Opposition to Amendment One (often termed Proposition One), which will be voted on in the November 1984 election and, if approved, would roll back all government revenues back to 1980-81 levels.

In the resolution commissioners urge voters to reject the amendment in the November election.

•Opposition to the state unitary tax. The resolution urges the governor to consider alternatives to the unitary tax.

•Disfavor of the U.S. Congress bill which increases telephone regulations. The resolution states the bill would severely hurt telephone competition and, if approved, would serve to raise phone rates.

Also, commissioners voted to approved purchase of a Ford truck for the city's public works department from Pahokee Ford at a price of about $8,194.

Southern Bell to ask for rate increase Southern Bell has asked the Florida Public Service Commission in Tallahassee to approve a rate increase of about $92.5 million.

If approved, the increase would translate to a $1.50 hike on residence lines and a $3.50 increase on business lines.

Bob White, group manager for the Glades area, said the company, in making the Feb. 17 request, was seeking to cover the great amount of money lost when a federal action transferred all leased phones used in the Southern Bell area back to AT&T Telephone.

"We are not seeking to make a profit, just to cover our losses," White stressed.

If the service commission denies the rate relief, White said, the company would be forced to consider filing for a general rate increase.

Southern Bell is authorized to make between 9.75 percent and 10.61 percent profit on its earnings. White noted that even with the $92 million increase, the company's profits will fall below this minimum.

The company is now just waiting to hear from the commission, White said.

tion, McDonald said, he could see the young man had dedicated himself to a professional career.

Morgan is one of a kind, McDonald continued, noting the ex-Raider still spends his summers in Belle Glade helping other athletes build their bodies. "He's just always helping out others," the coach said.

The entire Glades Central campus is pulling for the former Raider, McDonald, adding the athlete's former football coach Dan McCoy and Dr. Effie Grear, principal, were particularly thrilled for their former student.

Morgan was signed in January as a territorial draft selection for the Bandits. He reportedly has a one-year contract.

A standout tight end and defensive end at Glades Central, Morgan comes to the Bandits from Bethune Cookman College, in Daytona Beach, where he was named to the Mid-Eastern All Conference Team for his performance as a tight end this past fall.

The Bandits' coaches have determined the 6-foot-2, 205 pound Morgan's natural position is wide receiver. McDonald said Morgan has the speed, jumping ability and size to make it as a wide out.

During three preseason games as a Bandit, Morgan made 7 receptions for 92 yards with one touchdown.

As a college senior, Morgan caught 37 passes, for 550 yards and three touchdowns. Morgan's move to the USFL will postpone his scheduled college graduation this May, but McDonald said Morgan plans to finish school in the off-season.

In addition to being a standout gridiron performer for the Raiders, Morgan was also a trackman, competing in both the high jump and long jump. In fact, he won the conference high jump championship in 1980.

Sexual assault case continues

BELLE GLADE—A circuit court judge said defense testimony will be postponed until he decides whether to dismiss the case of a former West Technical Education Center counselor who charges she was denied a permanent contract because of rape allegations she made against another teacher.

Judge William C. Williams said Friday, Feb. 17 that he will make his ruling after reviewing documents to be submitted in the next few weeks by attorneys representing both defense and plaintiff.

Patricia Harrington, former counselor at West Technical Education Center, alleges she was denied a permanent contract in the fall of 1982 after three years of employment only because she charged fellow employee Don Tankersley with sexual harassment, including two separate rapes.

Mrs. Harrington alleges Tankersley repeatedly harassed her for a period of several months, beginning in October 1981. Denial of a continuing contract, she noted, came only after she and her husband approached school district administrators with the rape accounts in May 1982.

No action was taken against Tankersley except to transfer him away from the West Tech campus. Ofteidal said a school district investigation showed no probable cause for the rapes.

Ofteidal added Mrs. Harrington was denied a contract solely because of inadequate performance.

The defense moved that the case be dismissed. Ofteidal said the circuit court was the improper forum for a case which centers around disputed facts.

Montgomery, representing Mrs. Harrington, said the circuit court is the only court which can require a continuing contract to be given to the defendant.

He said the issue facing the court was not whether or not his client had been harassed and raped, but whether she was illegally denied a continuing contract.

"It is rather clear that the lady is being denied her contract because of the charges she has brought," Montgomery said.

In court Friday, the plaintiff rested its case after presenting two witnesses, Ofteidal and Ross Harrington, the plaintiff's husband.

Ofteidal testified that as the attorney representing the school board he took part in the investigation of the alleged rapes.

Explaining his recommendation that Mrs. Harrington's charges not be formally taken before the school board, Ofteidal said the woman's rape stories seemed incredulous.

Mrs. Harrington had not reported the rapes to anyone, neither to school officials, her husband, nor doctor, for several months and had continued to work with Tankersley, Ofteidal said.

"Whether I believed her or not, I believed her story had no credibility," he summarized.

Ofteidal testified Harrington took two polygraph tests. Results of the first test were not decipherable, but the second test revealed across the board positive ratings with the exception of one question, he testified.

Ross Harrington testified his wife did not inform him of the rapes until May 1982. Her fears of how he would respond prevented her from telling him earlier, Harrington said.

He said the couple hesitated before taking legal action because the school administration officials asked them to keep the matter confidential. He said he approached the state attorney with the rape charges after being told the school district's investigation had found no probable cause.

Motorola thanks Bairs for 30 years

BELLE GLADE—For over 30 years, people in the Glades have taken their broken radios and communications systems to Bair Electronics.

Recently, Motorola, dealer for the privately owned shop, thanked the Bair family for its loyalty and dedication with a 30-year service plaque.

Bair Electronic Service Inc., 557 S.E. Ave. E., consists of three generations of Bairs. Starting things off some 35 years ago was Howard, 70.

Glenn, 42, bought the shop from his dad about eight years ago and now directs the operation with help from his brother, Ralph, 29, and his son Gene, 20. Also helping out is Glenn's wife, Donna, bookkeeper Judy McMillan and Steve Siegel, installer.

Looking back at the shop's history, Howard says with pride, "It was a lot of work. Back when I started I dealt just with friends, all I wanted to do was make them happy and satisfied, that was it."

Howard says back when he was kid he was always interested in electronics. As he grew up the interest grew and he cultivated his skill by working with sound equipment in the town movie theatre, studying nights to earn an electronics certificate.

In 1948, Howard says he opened shop, in a chicken coop. "The chicken business went bad, so we turned to radios," he jokes.

The Bairs lived in the same building as the shop, Howard says his three sons, Mike, Glenn and Ralph were "always messing around with something in the shop."

"You know how it goes, once you get your hands on something, you're hooked on it. That's how I think my boys got started," he recalls. Mike, who also worked with Bair Electronics for several years, now owns and operates Bair Communications, which Howard also started years ago.

Glenn and Ralph both say they stayed with the shop simply because they like electronics. "It's different than any other business," Glenn states.

As Howard notes the electronics business has changed drastically over the years, and the family is always moving with the times.

"Generally, we're just trying to stay up with everything that's going on," Glenn says. Different members of the family are studying such things as micro processing, solar power, advanced telephone communication and other areas of expansion.

Glenn notes his son Gene is becoming the company's computer expert and is already repairing micro processing chips.

Howard says that after 30 years he's learned you always have to keep your eyes open and be ready to adjust. "Everything's always changing in this business," he said.

Everything but the Bair's dedication to their shop. And this isn't likely to change in the near future either.

The whole family agrees electronics will stay in their blood for years to come.

City purchases 10 used computer terminals for $2,500

BELLE GLADE—City commissioners approved the purchase of ten used computer terminals at a cost of $2,500 in their regular meeting, Monday, Feb. 13.

Commissioners unanimously accepted a bid from Allen Data Systems, of Savannah, Georgia, for the terminals.

Assistant Financial Director Bill Underwood was authorized to travel to Savannah and inspect the terminals. About $3,000 is budgeted for the computer purchase and the amount will cover both the purchase and travel expenses.

City Manager W.E. "Tommy" Strang, Mayor Thomas L. Altman, and Claude Tindall were all out of town and absent from the meeting. Commissioner Charles D. Goodlet acted as chairman for the meeting.

Commissioners approved an ordinance which will allow Emilio Perez to open his tire repair service, Nana Petroleum Rethreader, 408 S.E. 4th St., in the next week. The ordinance amends city zoning codes, allowing repair businesses in a business restricted zone.

Attorney John Baker raised the question whether commissioners should have postponed approval of the ordinance until a related amendment is approved at a future meeting.

The amendment in question states all repair work in the restricted zone must be done inside the building. Perez told commissioners he would follow this amendment and consequently the original ordinance was approved.

Also, commissioners tabled a request to write a letter to the County Commissioners, supporting the Glades Area Association of Retarded Citizens' request to use the two double wide trailers which currently house the health department. The health department reportedly plans to vacate the trailers in the future.

Huge hospital assessments unfair

Seemingly the Florida Department of Insurance has won every round in its battle with public, non-profit hospitals around the state to collect staggering multi-million dollar assessments for the Patient Compensation Fund.

Hendry General Hospital, Glades General Hospital, and Everglades Memorial Hospital all face huge assessments payable to the PCF.

While none of the bills have approached the million dollar figure, the assessments are nevertheless huge for any small, tax-supported hospital.

We wonder frankly how the hospitals are going to be able to pay the bills.

Even though the Florida Supreme Court has ruled in the favor of the PCF, it hardly seems justice has been served.

Public-owned hospitals were virtually forced to join the PCF back in the middle 1970s when many traditional writers of malpractice insurance quit doing so.

And by some stroke of genius, if the initial fee proved too low once the PCF commenced operations, the amount physicians would be required to pay would be limited, while hospitals paid any outstanding balance.

Funny thing is, hospitals are rarely sued for malpractice. Physicians are. Yet it was the hospitals which began taking it on the chin as rates skyrocketed after the first year of operations in 1975.

The rest is history. PCF fund administrators can expect to make in excess of $90 million needed to payoff malpractice claims. And some say that figure could eventually top $300 million.

No wonder then that hospitals across the state so vigorously fought the assessments and dropped out of the fund.

The state needs to find a better way to collect the money needed to payoff the malpractice claims. Local hospital officials had no reason to anticipate that the assessment would take such a quantum leap.

It is unreasonable to expect small hospitals, such as those in the Glades, to come up with the big bucks the state is assessing.

And it seems even more unreasonable to have to pay an ever-growing assessment because of alleged malpractice elsewhere.

Ailsa Dewing

"And What Not"

Scientists are sure mice know it all

You may not be aware of it — you may not be aware of much of anything, for all I know — but whenever scientists want to know anything about people behavior they go to their laboratories and watch their mice.

Now there's no doubt you can learn a lot from mice: how to climb vertical walls, how to steal cheese from a trap without getting your nose caught in it, how to produce progeny within 14 days, and so forth. But scientists seem to expect mice to be knowledgeable about the most complicated matters.

For example: If you were walking through the Pentagon trying to find General So-and-So, but having no success, you might decide to ask for directions. But you saw a mouse lounging against a corridor wall, picking its teeth or just wiggling its whiskers (you've seen them do that, haven't you?) would you ask the mouse for directions? Of course not, most of you will say. Scientists, however, would. They do it everyday. Not at the Pentagon necessarily, but wherever they can find a tricky box called a maze — a packaged Pentagon, if you will — and a mouse. A well-trained mouse can not only find its way 'round a box, it can quickly locate a scientist's lunch in a locker room.

You're likely wondering how I know so much. As in most areas of expertise, my credentials are impeccable. I had two years of intensive study of hygiene in elementary school and a full term of high school Biology I (A&B). Also, I've done extensive reading, absorbing countless scientific articles in the Readers Digest.

Still, I'll try not to get too technical for you in sharing the knowledge I've gained. The brain is divided vertically (I think into two parts: the left and the right. Each side acts as a control center for moving the arms, legs, eyes, ears, and so on. The reason our noses do not move is they are in the middle and so are counterbalanced by being controlled simultaneously by both sides of our brains. Our mouths, also being in the middle, are likewise beyond control, if, in fact, they are connected to the brain at all.

Now the brain is also divided into three, or maybe it's four, horizontal sections. They are called: the cerebrum, which is used for thinking or not thinking, according to individual preference; the cerebellum, which is the hind end of the brain (cf. Random House) and which should not be confused with the cerebellum which became obsolete after the Civil War; and the medulla oblongata — unless I'm confused and that is an organ piece of Bach's.

Even to those of you without my expertise, it must be obvious that there are so many bits and pieces to a brain that it makes sense, if you're going to study one, to find the biggest brain you can, unless you want to ruin your eyesight. So why would anyone try to study such a teeny-weensy brain as a mouse? Scientists are trying to learn how a clock works by studying a wristwatch instead of a grandfather clock where they could better see the works and all, including the gong.

It would be more sensible to study elephant brains but I suppose it is cheaper to keep a herd of mice and then, too, they are a lot easier to clean up after.

I apologize for taking so long to get to the point of all this but I believe it's essential you're well-grounded in the facts, or, at least, a highly suspicious facsimile, before we dissect the problem.

Speaking of dissection, that is another route scientists take that makes very little sense. Whenever scientists tire of watching their mice, they like to slice up tiny mouse brains to look at them under a microscope, believing they'll find small mice thoughts embedded there. What they frequently find is that the mouse is dead.

"That's strange," the scientist with the pen knife will say to Frankenstein, or whoever is standing nearby. "This mouse is dead."

"You don't say! I know it was alive when I handed it to you. Did you drop it?"

After a lengthy discussion, they are apt to conclude the mouse died of something it ate. They then call up the United States Surgeon General or the switchboard operator down at the food and drug enforcement agency and issue a warning that eating gumpdrops or day-old banana peels can be hazardous to your health.

After that they go back to wondering whether a mouse (a live one) that hasn't eaten in two days, can find a piece of cheese, which smells like General So-and-So, in the center of a maze built like the Pentagon, as part of an ongoing study, funded by a $6 million Congressional appropriation, called, "The Feasibility of Using Mice as Pentagon Ushers in Times of National Emergency."

I seem to have run out of space for this week without coming close to the problem I wanted to discuss. Perhaps we can take it up next time and meanwhile, I'll try to remember which part of the brain is used for storing used cells, a correlative problem to the question: Do we forget because we can't remember where we left our memory cells or vice versa? An interesting study in itself, as I seem to recall, but I'm not sure.

Avoiding assault

Thwarting the rapist

alone, he added, pointing that such seemingly innocent things as phone calls concerning "radio station quiz contests" can be used to find information about a person.

Be very careful about who you let in your home, Frechette advised.

More than one rapist has pretended to be a service man of some sort, he said. Try and have a friend over during service calls, or do something to give the impression that you're not alone.

"One woman felt very comfortable with having her shower on when service men were over," Frechette recalled.

Parking lots, elevators and other secluded areas are places to be wary of, Frechette said.

He told the story of two men offering to take a woman whose car had broken down to a local phone station. She accepted and the men drove her to a secluded area and assaulted her and then dumped her miles from any help.

If your car breaks down, Frechette said, stay inside with the hood up and the doors locked. Ask those who offer help to send police, he said.

Frechette stressed there is no guarantee against being a rape victim, no matter what precautions a person takes.

However, even if you are assaulted by a rapist, you are not helpless, he said, outlining ways to escape a rapist.

Gary Frechette, of the Department of Security with the Palm Beach County School Board, outlined several steps people can take to limit the possibility of being an assault victim.

HOME

- *Lock doors
- *Close curtains
- *Know neighbors
- *Use door peephole
- *Keep lights on
- *Don't hide keys outdoors
- *Have keys ready when entering

WORK

- *Don't stay late alone
- *Keep office keys with you
- *Beware of parking garages, elevators...

CAR

- *Park in lighted areas
- *Lock your car
- *Don't dally outside car
- *Check rear seat when entering
- *Doors locked while driving
- *Wait for police in car, if breakdown

At first, don't resist physically, Frechette said. Fighting is only a last alternative, he said, usually the victim, not the rapist is hurt in physical confrontations.

The first response should be to communicate with the rapist, Frechette said. The victim should know what the rapist is after, which is to totally control, to humiliate and degrade.

About 70 percent of rapists plan their rapes beforehand, seeking power and working toward emotional control over the victim, Frechette said.

About 30 percent of rapists are responding to sudden anger and make a rapid choice about their victim, he said.

Victims can use the rapists' motives and emotions to confuse the rapist and make an escape, Frechette said.

"You have to see him as a person. He wants to humiliate and violate you. But you're not going to give that to him. You're going to see him as a person."

The victim should be planning the escape while talking to the rapist, Frechette said, figuring out which route will most quickly lead to safety.

If the attempt to communicate and escape falls through, Frechette said, it is time to fight. He outlined two ways a victim can counter both front and rear attacks by incapacitating the rapist.

The second method included sticking both thumbs into the rapist's eye sockets, bringing temporary blindness and much pain.

For those who have been involved with a rape and have problems dealing with it, questions can be directed to telephone counselors at 833-RAPE.

"You don't have to deal with the problem alone anymore," Frechette said.

Frechette has been touring the county's schools since the fall, giving rape prevention workshops to both students and teachers. He said he is available to give assault workshops locally and can be contacted at 684-5060.

EXCAVATION for the new expansion at the Everglades Memorial Hospital began Tuesday, Feb. 21. Pillings will be driven this week and concrete pouring is scheduled for next week. The entire unit, which will include new obstetrics facilities should be completed in November or December according to Herb Carnes of McDevitt Street Construction, the general contractor.

Letter

Editor: In your article Feb. 1, concerning four-laning SR 80:

Please inform Mr. Bill Fussell we "Yankees" object very much to his referral. If the state is only building "Yankee Roads," we are sure Yankees are paying for them!

Incidentally, the "Yankees" feel you need SR 80 4-laned from coast to coast! Sincerely yours, A "Yankee!"

Editor's note: Lee County Commissioner Bill Fussell was referring humorously to the fact that most four-laned highways in Florida run north and south, rather than east-west.

Black Gold fireworks OK'd

BELLE GLADE—The Black Gold Jubilee hopes to have its own version of "Smoke on the Water" at its festival this year.

The jubilee committee approved a contract with Pyrotechnic Internationale, of Sebring, to put on a fireworks show at the jubilee which will include water displays.

The committee will pay the company $2,000 for the show. Earlier, the committee had added $500 to its $1,500 fireworks budget to enable an improved show.

Committee member Mike Underwood said Pyrotechnic has also promised a fireworks sign on the lake which may proclaim "Black Gold Jubilee 1984."

And in the latest chapter in attempts to build the world's largest sugar cube, committee members reviewed another test cube.

This cube held together well, but was a dark brown in color. Committee members indicated that while it seemed to be well built, the appearance left a little to be desired.

The test cube was baked in efforts to make it more solid. Committee member John Pitts, of Sugar Cane Growers Cooperative, who is coordinating construction attempts, said the cube was over cooked.

Pitts said Co-op workers would continue experimenting with the cube.

Last week, Pitts presented a test cube which committee members agreed looked nice, but crumbled a bit at the edges.

In other business, committee members agreed that all drinks sold at the festival will be served in Black Gold Jubilee plastic cups. The committee ordered 3,000 cups to be gold in color with black and green letters. The committee has 1,500 cups left over from last year's stock which will also be distributed again this year.

Brett McCormick announced that Harvest Queen preparations are coming along. Any girls interested in entering the contest can contact McCormick or Cathy Lee.

Chalo Nitka Fest begins March 2

By JEFF BATER

Glades County and Moore Haven's most celebrated and biggest event of the year has almost arrived and people from points near and far are summoned to the area for the festival of the big bass.

The 36th Annual Chalo Nitka Festival and Rodeo is nearly underway as people locally and abroad prepare to converge on Moore Haven for three days of festivities and merriment March 2, 3, and 4.

Chalo Nitka means "big bass" in the language of the Seminole Indian, many of whom reside in the area. Abundance of fish in local waters, particularly largemouth bass, has made Moore Haven a popular spot for anglers and tourists.

Founded in 1949, the festival was intended as a homecoming for area people. The first festival was launched with a parade. Mayor L.M. Lilly cut the ribbon as the procession moved to Main Street, and he officiated at the opening of the main thoroughfare.

More than 2,500 people were on hand to watch the first turkey calling contest and the crowning of king bass. Miss Peggy Stalls (now Mrs. G.L. Sims) was crowned as the first Chalo Nitka Queen during the ceremonies.

Accidents causes $32,000 damage

BELLE GLADE - A collision between a cane truck and a fertilizer truck on SR 15 caused a total of about $32,000 worth of damage, early Tuesday morning, Feb. 21.

Tractor T.J. Smith, of the Florida Highway Patrol, reported that collision of two vehicles about three miles north of Belle Glade ap-

The driver of the fertilizer truck, a 1980 Ford, Jon G. Duff, 25, 164½ Banyan Ave., Pahokee, was treated for minor head injuries at Everglades Memorial Hospital. The other driver, Newton Donovan Bailey, 22, 857 E. 7th St., was reportedly not injured. Neither truck was carrying passengers.

The accident occurred when Duff swerved into the guardrail and bridge on SR 15 at Stoney Bridge Road, in an attempt to avoid traffic stopped by a stalled 1970 Peterbilt cane truck, driven by Bailey, according to Smith's report.

After hitting the bridge, the truck struck Bailey's vehicle. About $25,000 was reported to the fertilizer truck and about $1,000 to the cane truck. About $4,000 of fertilizer being transported by one of the vehicles was ruined and about $1,000 of damage was done on the bridge and guardrail.

Judge Hastings addresses political fete here

By TOMKISKEN

BELLE GLADE—Political progress for the black community was the theme leaders of the Florida State Voters League expressed all day Saturday, Feb. 18.

Black city and county leaders throughout the state convened in Belle Glade Saturday, meeting in voter workshops throughout the day and at a banquet honoring several local government officials in the evening.

South Bay City Commissioners Vernita Cox, Rennick Morris, Willie Marshall and Belle Glade City Commissioner Dan Bythwood were honored by the Florida State Voters League for their contributions to the community at the Belle Glade Country Club.

Speakers at the banquet and earlier at the workshops discussed goals for the future. Featured guest Alcee Hastings, federal fifth circuit judge, spoke at the banquet on the ability of all races to work together.

"I believe human beings can work together to bring the type of future we all want," he said.

Hastings said blacks have to organize and work together along with other sectors of the community. Discrimination, he said, has prevented blacks from accomplishing many of their goals.

"If we are organized we can accomplish things which have nothing to do with color," he said.

Blacks have yet to enter the elite class which actually runs the nation, Hastings said. Those who have moved into government and into seemingly lofty positions are really only in middle management positions.

"About five percent of the people up here tell the rest of us 95 percent what to do," he said.

By working as one blacks and whites in this

95 percentile group can progress to the point where they make their own governing decisions, Hastings said.

Those attending the banquet also paid tribute to the four Glades government representatives. Florida State Voters League Roosevelt Harris said the commissioners were being recognized because of their "fine contributions to the community."

In his speech Hastings noted that all members of the black community needed to work as the honorees were. "We need the kind of things these honorees have brought us," he said.

Cox, Morris, Marshall and Bythwood each were presented plaques by former voters league president Dan Hendrix. Each commissioner expressed their deep appreciation for the honors and thanked the community and their families for their support.

Morris said, "We are really proud of this gathering. This has been a great stepping stone for us."

Bythwood also expressed appreciation for the turnout and urged those present to show their concern at local government meetings.

"I want to see all your faces on second and fourth Mondays (dates of Belle Glade City Commission meetings) so you can say city commissioners we're taxpayers, lets get it done."

Cox, who has held her seat for the past 12 years, was South Bay's first woman commissioner and has served as mayor and police commissioner. She is a nurse with the Palm Beach County's Mental Health Clinic's Crisis Unit, in Belle Glade.

Morris is nearing completion of his first term as a South Bay commissioner and is seeking reelection. He is shop foreman at the Palm Beach School Board's west area office in Belle Glade.

Marshall, who is also seeking a second term as a South Bay commissioner, is supervisor of sugar cane planting at Talisman Sugar Corp.

Bythwood, elected to his first term as a Belle Glade city commissioner in September, is a human relations specialist with the Palm Beach County School Board and owns a local laundromat.

Earlier in the day at the Holiday Inn workshops, speakers, including Jackie Winchester, Palm Beach County supervisor of elections, emphasized the need to vote intelligently.

Workshop topics included: Voter Education, Voter Registration, Understanding the Electoral Process and Economics Means Business.

Dr. Fred Milton, finance director, spoke on voter education and told the audience, "We need to learn to vote our own best interests."

Noting the majority of city officials and voter league members in the audience, Milton said the key is to get the average person in the black community to vote.

"Where's the beef," he quipped about the turnout adding later, "Let's get this message out to the beef."

Raiders eye district basketball title

THE RAIDERS' Rhondy Weston against Clewiston. Takes a fall-away jumper

SIMON SAYS JUMP — Terry Givens of Glades Central and Chuck Rainey of Clewiston go after a rebound Friday.

Gators ready for district play

BELLE GLADE — If the Gators can pull it together, the Glades Day School boys basketball team can win this week's district tourney, according to their coach.

The Gators, who finished the regular season with an 11-9 record, start their climb in the district tourney, Thursday, Feb. 16, against Summit Christian at Benjamin High School, in West Palm Beach.

GDS Coach Kelly Beckham said the top competition among the 11 teams in the tourney will come from Kings Academy and Benjamin.

"Right now, we're just looking forward to it and hope we have a shot at the title," Beckham said. "The Gators have not beat either Benjamin or Kings this season in five tries. Pointing to the team's two very narrow defeats to Benjamin and another close game with Kings, Beckham said the Gators can play with these teams."

A major factor for Glades Day will be the play of center Bayan Abraham and the overall defense. "We're just going to have to play tenacious defense," Beckham said.

Last Thursday, Feb. 16, the Gators dropped their final regular season game, 54-50, to Moore Haven in Belle Glade.

The Gators had a half time lead in the game and kept within a point until the final seconds, but a turnover led to a Moore Haven bucket and Glades Day was finished.

Beckham said foul trouble hurt his team in the contest.

Brian Lohmann had another impressive game for the Gators, scoring 22 points.

BELLE GLADE — "If we play as well as we can, we'll win the tourney, if we don't play as well as we can we'll probably lose."

Its as simple as that says Coach Harold Taylor of his Glades Central Community High School's boys cage team's chances in the upcoming district tourney.

The Raiders begin tourney action Friday, Feb. 24 against either Santaluces or Atlantic at Santaluces.

If the Raiders win Friday, they'll play the winner of the other Friday night game, North Shore-Cardinal Newman. Either of these teams are capable of taking it to the state ranked Raiders, also conference co-champions, Taylor said.

During the regular season, the 23-4 Glades Central beat Newman by two points and edged North Shore twice by a total of 11 points.

The major need, as it has been all season, will be patience, Taylor said. If his Raiders can control the ball and take advantage of opportunities when they arise, they'll do fine.

The Raiders wound up their regular season with two wins, 61-52 over Clewiston, Friday, Feb. 17 and 92-44 over Atlantic Wednesday, Feb. 15.

The Clewiston win gave Glades Central a 12-2 conference record and a share of the conference title with Pahokee.

The Raiders led the entire way against Clewiston.

Taylor commented his team played especially well in the second and third quarters. The Raiders outscored Clewiston 24-13 in the third period.

However, Taylor said the team's inability to run a good control offense in the late game was worrisome. Clewiston took advantage of Glades Central's impatience in the final quarter, outscoring the home team, 24-19.

Individually, Tommie Lee Anderson came off the bench with 11 points and a strong inside game, Taylor said.

Nate Johnston hit all nine of his free throws and scored 15 points, while Terry Givens also did well from the charity stripe on the way to a team leading 21 points.

Rhondy Weston played a big role as always with 13 points.

Against Atlantic, the Raiders again controlled from buzzer to buzzer.

Taylor said the team, in this game, showed it can, at times, run a well-controlled defense.

Using this offense, Glades Central outscored Atlantic 30-8 in the final period.

The one-two scoring punch for the Raiders was Weston, 28, and Givens, 24. Add Anderson with 12 points and 11 rebounds, and the Raiders had total domination inside.

Taylor added Charles Dowers, guard, played well, showing scoring ability, with 10 points.

Pahokee girls end basketball season

PAHOKEE — The Blue Devil girls made it to the district semi-final game against LaBelle, but were beaten by the Cowboys, 46-27, Friday, Feb. 24 to end their season.

Earlier on Thursday night, the girls beat Immokalee, 45-40, coming from a six point deficit to take the game.

Pahokee host district playoffs

PAHOKEE — The Pahokee boys basketball team closed out their regular season with two wins last week and a share of the conference title.

The Blue Devils beat Pope John Paul, 69-61, Wednesday night, Feb. 15, and nipped North Shore, 59-46, Saturday, Feb. 18.

The team heads into the district play with a 16-7 record and half of the conference title with a 12-2 record, tied with Glades Central Community High School.

Anthony Smith led the way against Pop John Paul with 18 points. Barry Jackson had 15 points and Charles Bess had 17.

The Blue Devils jumped to an eight point, first quarter lead en route to victory over North Shore. Again Smith led Pahokee scorers with 14 points.

Raider girls suffer 1st and final loss

BELLE GLADE -The Glades Central Community High School's girls' basketball team's storybook season came to an unhappy ending Tuesday, night, Feb. 21, as the girls lost the regional championship to Pompano Beach Ely, 63-50.

The girls finish the year as district and conference champions with an exceptional 21-1 record. The girls were ranked fifth in the state prior to Tuesday's game.

After a close opening period, Ely surged past the Raiders and by the fourth period had opened up an 18 point lead.

Karen Gooden led the Raiders with 14 points and Denise Bussey contributed 12 points.

Before the game, Raiders' Coach Graham Frost noted his team had its hands full with the state ranked Ely team. Ely had earlier in the year scored over 150 points in one game.

"They're

powerhouse," Frost said.

Earlier in the week the girls swept the District 13 crown with decisive victories over Atlantic Friday night, Feb. 17, 61-30, and North Shore, 50-25, Saturday, Feb. 18.

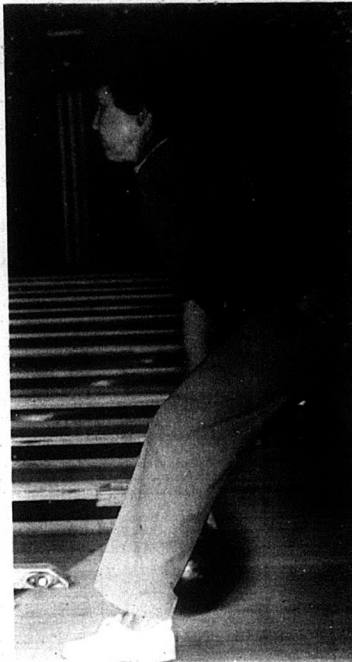

Against Atlantic the girls led the entire way. Coach Graham Frost credited the team with a good defensive effort.

Denise Bussey led the Raiders with 20 points, Terry Bailey had 11, Evette Lyman and Josephine Milton both added 10 points.

The North Shore game was tightly contested for more than two quarters. Midway through the third period, the Raiders forced several North Shore turnovers and broke the game open.

Bussey scored, 20, Bailey had 10 and Lyman 9.

Of the district championship, Frost said, "We were extremely pleased, we showed a lot of confidence."

Lady Gators lose in districts

BELLE GLADE -The Glades Day Gators' girls' basketball team beat the Christian Day School Crusaders in semifinal district action at CDS, Friday night, Feb. 17, 40-32.

The Gators dropped the district title game the following night, 52-17, to King's Academy, Saturday, Feb. 25 to finish the year with a 7-9 record. The Crusaders finished the year with a 7-13 mark.

The two teams swapped leads in the first half, with the Crusaders taking a two point edge into intermission. A third quarter spurt ignited the Gators into a five point lead which they never gave up.

The Crusaders beat Jupiter Christian, Thursday night in the opening game of the district tourney, 43-16.

A CHRISTIAN DAY School player peeks around the corner in district against Glades Day Friday, Feb. 18, at CDS.

Raider wrestler places in state meet Saturday

Glades Central Community High School's Johnny Hubbard, junior, placed fourth in the state wrestling tournament held Friday and Saturday, Feb. 17-18, in Pinellas Park.

Hubbard, wrestling at 159 pounds, won three matches while losing only two during the tourney. Two other wrestlers, Juran Sampson and Johnny Moore, also competed in the tourney, but did not place.

The combined efforts of the three wrestlers enabled Glades Central to finish among the top half teams in the tourney.

Coach Frank Lasagne said Hubbard "did a super job." He noted that despite wrestling with a bruised knee, Hubbard came very close to a third place finish, losing his final match in overtime.

JOHNNY HUBBARD

match record.

"We had a winning season and you can't knock that," he said.

With only two seniors graduating from the squad, Lasagne said he is hoping for good things next year. The key to next year's success, he said, could be how much the kids grow over the summer, which will determine who wrestles at each weight class.

For the Gators, Rhonda Hutson had 15 points. Kim Chamblee scored 10 points for the Crusaders.

In the championship game, the Gators were controlled by Kings all the way. The West Palm Beach School erupted to a 24-4 half time lead.

Outscoring their opponents 28-5 in the final two periods, CDS took control of what had been a close game.

The Crusaders stressed team play in the victory as four players scored at least six points.

"I find the big catches. Block finds me the big refunds."

Lady bowlers hold annual tourney for 15th year

BELLE GLADE -The pins are flying every weekend throughout February at the Belle Glade Bowl, as the top women bowlers in the county match strikes and scratches.

The Palm Beach County Women's Bowling Association (PBCWBA) is holding its annual tournament in Belle Glade for the first time in 15 years. This coming weekend, Feb. 18-19 is the final weekend of competition for singles, doubles and teams.

One of Belle Glade's own is doing her best to make the home town proud.

Gaby Pilcher is leading in the combined event. In addition she is tied for first in singles and with partner Kay Pearson, also of Belle Glade, is leading the double's competition.

About 40 individuals and eight teams are representing the Glades in the tourney. A total of 79 teams and about 350 bowlers are competing from all parts of the county.

Each team, doubles pair and individual competes once during the month and then just waits to see how their score holds up.

Tournament officials expressed their gratitude to the people of Belle Glade for making them feel welcome. Dottie Fie, PBCWBA secretary, said "The people in Belle Glade have been very nice and cooperative."

Alleys bid each year to hold the tourney and so while Fie couldn't promise a quick return she said the tourney people "are definitely happy to be here this year."

Joyce Salvador, of Belle Glade, member of the PBCWBA board of directors, said the bowling alley management and employees deserved credit for their work. "Really and truly the guys at the bowling alley are doing a tremendous job," she said.

Leaders, listed in order, going into the final weekend of bowling include:

Teams: Cunningham Insurance, Riviera Beach, 2989; Lucky Five, Jupiter, 2977; Manhattan Cream of the Crop IV.

Individuals: (Tie) Gay Alexin, Lake Worth; Gaby Pilcher.

Doubles: Pilcher-Pearson; Fleming-Teague, West Palm Beach.

Teams representing the Glades include: Langdale Dragline, Lake Hardware, Carter Electric, Dixie Fried Chicken, Bell Air Helicopter, Gulf Lake Produce, Wedgworth Inc., South Bay Growers Inc.

Among those helping to coordinate the tournament are three PBCWBA directors from Belle Glade: Salvador, Charlene Busbin and Fran McCloud.

A trophy presentation will be held Sunday evening, Feb. 19, in West Palm Beach.

Confronting the criminal

By U.S. Sen. Paula Hawkins

Despite the successes due to stepped up law enforcement, crime remains a major concern of most Floridians.

The South Florida Task Force has had a great deal of success in stopping shipments of drugs from foreign countries, but we know the illegal drug industry continues to flourish.

Almost 90 percent of the illegal drugs consumed in this country comes from abroad, including all of the heroin, cocaine and hashish, and 99 percent of the marijuana.

The regional impact of the illicit drug industry is particularly severe in the southeastern United States. An estimated 70 percent of the cocaine, 80 percent of the marijuana and 90 percent of the Quaaludes smuggled into the U.S. comes through Florida, Georgia and the Carolinas.

The drug traffic through Florida, estimated at $10 billion annually, is the highest in the nation.

The amount of drug trafficking that occurs in Florida is particularly worrisome in light of the link between crime and illegal drugs.

Law enforcement authorities estimate that between 40 and 60 percent of all serious crimes that occurred in the United States in 1982 were drug related.

To ignore the link between crime and drugs or to reduce even fractionally our efforts in the war against drugs would only add to the unconscionable number of citizens whose lives have been shattered by drug abuse and drug related crimes.

For this reason, I was delighted when the President recommended in his recent budget the establishment of an Organized Crime Drug Enforcement Task Force for Florida.

The work of this task force, to be made up of FBI agents, Drug Enforcement Administration agents and federal prosecutors and marshals, should be to investigate and prosecute large-scale drug dealers. Its mission would complement the drug interdiction work of the South Florida Task Force, and it would be a tremendous boost to anti-drug efforts in Florida.

At the same time, however, I am concerned that the President's budget recommends dropping 923 jobs from the U.S. Customs Service in fiscal year 1985.

The Customs Service plays a vital role in anti-smuggling activities in Florida and the southeastern United States, and Florida undoubtedly would be hard hit by a cutback of the size proposed by the Administration. In light of the epidemic levels of narcotics entering the U.S. along the southern borders and the enormous crime wave that accompanies this $100 billion industry, I foresee real problems in reducing the number of Customs personnel. In fact, this plan could easily send a signal to the criminal element that a new, open-door policy is in effect for traffickers in illegal drugs.

All signals are go for the 1984 Swamp Cabbage Festival.

A weekend of parades, plenty of food, entertainment and fun will greet local residents and visitors alike who attend the 18th annual celebration of Florida's state tree which is a yearly event in LaBelle.

Activities get underway Friday, Feb. 24, with an old fashion square dance, presented by the Belles and Beaux Square Dancing Club. The dance begins at 7:30 p.m. in the LaBelle Civic Center. Vern Johnson will be the caller. No alcoholic beverages will be allowed at the family event, and soft drinks will be sold by the LaBelle Community Woman's Club.

Our Lady Queen of Heaven Catholic Church will also be sponsoring community games in the parish hall starting at 7:30 p.m.

Saturday's festivities begin at 10 a.m. with the Swamp Cabbage Festival Parade, which will run from S.R. 80A (Devil's Garden Drive) down Bridge Street to Barron Park.

After the parade, attention turns to the park. A variety of foods will be offered by area civic groups, and Seminole Indians will have arts and crafts on display. Entertainment will be provided by square dancers, cloggers and continuous country music, and a vast array of booths will offer crafts, art, T-shirts and souvenirs. A country music museum will also be at the park.

The LaBelle Community Woman's Club Quilt show, at the club building on west S.R. 80 at Florida Street in LaBelle, begins at 10 a.m. Official Swamp Cabbage Festival cookbooks will be on sale. The display lasts until 4 p.m.

While activities are going on at the park, visitors may want to partake of chicken and dumplings at Carlson Memorial United Methodist Church at Campbell Street. Serving begins at 11 a.m.

All alumni of LaBelle High School are invited to a 2 p.m. alumni coffee at the First Baptist Church Social Hall.

Even though the day will be filled with fun and excitement, festival participants shouldn't neglect Saturday night.

The Journeyman Quartet will present a gospel sing at the First Baptist Church, beginning at 7 p.m.

For a true taste of Country and Western dancing, be sure to make a stop at the Swamp Cabbage Country and Western Dance, which starts at 9 p.m. at the LaBelle Civic Center. The dance will feature the band, "Tennessee." The event is EYOBB, and set-ups will be sold by the Villages of Fort LaBelle Garden Club.

If that's not enough, Sunday also provides a day of fun, starting off with the first-ever Swamp Cabbage Bass Tournament, which begins at dawn. The tournament is sponsored by the LaBelle Bass Busters and the LaBelle Ace Center. Weigh-in will be at 2 p.m. in Barron Park.

At noon, festival goers will enjoy entertainment provided by "Tennessee," cloggers and dancers. Wild hog barbecue dinners will be sold by the LaBelle Quarterback Club. Inclement weather will move activities to the LaBelle Civic Center.

For those who want to work off the festival's calories, they can participate in, or witness, the Second Annual Swamp Stomp, a 5,000 meter run for men and women 16 and older. The run starts and finishes in Barron Park, and is sponsored by the LaBelle Branch of the First Bank of Clewiston.

Another sporting event connected with the festival follows on Saturday, March 3, with the 10th Annual Swamp Cabbage Festival Golf Tournament held at the Port LaBelle Inn's Oxbow Golf Course. For more information or registration, call 675-0646.

SCF slated for this weekend

New action scout program announced

IRVING, TX.—A new program aimed specifically at mid-teens boys will be unveiled by the Boy Scouts of America next September.

To be known as Varsity Scouting, it will offer heavy emphasis on "high adventure" activities and other programs which appeal to the older boy, according to Chief Scout Executive J. T. Taylor.

Tested for the past six years in 28 of the nation's 413 local Scout councils, the program is the second new major initiative of the BSA in two years. Just over a year ago, Tiger Cubs, a program for seven-year-old boys, was introduced and to date has attracted some 142,000 youngsters.

Although membership in Scouting's youth programs has made substantial gains in recent years, officials acknowledged that "our greatest loss in boys to Scouting is during the 14 and 15-year age levels."

Approximately 51 percent of the nation's 1.1 million Scouts are under 14; another 20 percent are 14 and 15.

Varsity Scouts will join a team rather than a troop, under the direction of an adult coach (instead of scoutmaster), and will be led by a youth captain instead of a senior patrol leader.

In addition to high adventure activities, they will be encouraged to continue their advancement toward the Eagle rank, to fulfill service projects, participate in special programs on Scouting's council, regional, and national levels.

SCF slated for this weekend

All signals are go for the 1984 Swamp Cabbage Festival.

A weekend of parades, plenty of food, entertainment and fun will greet local residents and visitors alike who attend the 18th annual celebration of Florida's state tree which is a yearly event in LaBelle.

Activities get underway Friday, Feb. 24, with an old fashion square dance, presented by the Belles and Beaux Square Dancing Club. The dance begins at 7:30 p.m. in the LaBelle Civic Center. Vern Johnson will be the caller. No alcoholic beverages will be allowed at the family event, and soft drinks will be sold by the LaBelle Community Woman's Club.

Our Lady Queen of Heaven Catholic Church will also be sponsoring community games in the parish hall starting at 7:30 p.m.

Saturday's festivities begin at 10 a.m. with the Swamp Cabbage Festival Parade, which will run from S.R. 80A (Devil's Garden Drive) down Bridge Street to Barron Park.

After the parade, attention turns to the park. A variety of foods will be offered by area civic groups, and Seminole Indians will have arts and crafts on display. Entertainment will be provided by square dancers, cloggers and continuous country music, and a vast array of booths will offer crafts, art, T-shirts and souvenirs. A country music museum will also be at the park.

The LaBelle Community Woman's Club Quilt will be at the club building on west S.R. 80 at Florida Street in LaBelle, begins at 10 a.m. The Official Swamp Cabbage Festival Quilt will be on sale. The display lasts until 4 p.m.

While activities are going on at the park, visitors may want to partake of chicken and dumplings at Carlson Memorial United Methodist Church at Campbell Street. Serving begins at 11 a.m.

All alumni of LaBelle High School are invited to a 2 p.m. alumni coffee at the First Baptist Church Social Hall.

Even though the day will be filled with fun and excitement, festival participants shouldn't neglect Saturday night.

The Journeymen Quartet will present a gospel singing at the First Baptist Church, beginning at 7 p.m.

For a true taste of Country and Western music, be sure to mark down the Swamp Cabbage Country and Western Dance, which will be held at 9 p.m. at the LaBelle Civic Center. The event is BYOB, and set-ups will be sold by the Villages of Port LaBelle Garden Club.

If that's not enough, Sunday also provides a day of fun, starting off with the first ever Swamp Cabbage Bass Tournament, which begins at dawn. The tournament is sponsored by the LaBelle Bass Busters and the LaBelle Ace Center. Weigh-in will be at 2 p.m.

At noon, festival goers will enjoy entertainment provided by "Tennessee," cloggers and dancers. Wild hog barbecue dinners will be sold by the LaBelle Quarterback Club. Inclement weather will move activities to the LaBelle Civic Center.

For those who want to work off the festival's fruits, they can participate in, or witness, the Second Annual Swamp Stomp, a 5,000 meter run for men and women 15 and older. The run starts and finishes in Barron Park, and is sponsored by the LaBelle Branch of the First Bank of Clewiston.

Another sporting event connected with the festival follows on Saturday, March 3, with the 10th Annual Swamp Cabbage Festival Golf Tournament held at the Port LaBelle Inn's Oxbow Golf Course. For more information or registration, call 675-0846.

New action scout program announced

IRVING, TX.—A new program aimed specifically at mid-teen boys will be unveiled by the Boy Scouts of America next September.

To be known as Varsity Scouting, it will offer heavy emphasis on "high adventure" activities and other programs which appeal to the older boy, according to Chief Scout Executive J.L. Tarr.

Six years in the past, the nation's 413 local Scout councils, the program is the second new major thrust of the BSA in two years. Just over a year ago, Tiger Cubs, a program for seven-year-old boys, was introduced and to date has attracted some 142,000 youngsters.

Although membership in Scouting's youth programs has made substantial gains in recent years, of officials acknowledged that "our greatest loss in boys to Scouting is during the 14 and 15-year age levels."

Approximately 51 percent of the nation's 1.1 million Scouts are under 14; another 20 percent are 14 and 15. Varsity Scouts will join a team rather than a troop, under the direction of an adult coach (instead of scoutmaster), and will be led by a youth captain instead of a senior patrol leader.

In addition to high adventure activities, they will be encouraged to continue their advancement toward the Eagle rank, to fulfill service projects, participate in special programs on Scouting's council, regional, and national levels.

extension officer, presided at the ceremony. In the audience was reinstated member, Mary L. Cook, who was given a cordial welcome. In February, three members received their Proceptor Degrees. Jeannette C. Fincannon, vice president, bestowed the degrees

Free cardiovascular screening offered

BELLE GLADE—Know someone who might benefit from blood pressure, blood, or heart screening? If so, tell them about the free cardiovascular screening clinic offered every Tuesday by the Glades General Hospital Auxiliary. Those who take advantage of the clinic receive a blood pressure check, EKG reading, pulse reading and blood test. The tests are recorded and sent to a state health department lab where they are evaluated and returned to the patients. Auxiliary member Abby Zumpf said the tests, if performed by a hospital, would cost about $120. The clinic is open every Tuesday from 9 a.m. until noon at Glades residents 18 and older. Testing is performed in Dr. Jaime Benavides' office in the hospital's Memorial Wing. Anyone wishing to take advantage of the free screening should call 996-1690 for an appointment.

TINA RIEBMAN

Tina Riebman top hospital employee

BELLE GLADE—Lu Ann "Tina" Riebman, a registered nurse in Glades General Hospital's Pediatrics Unit, has been named the hospital's Employee of the Month for the month of February.

During the selection process, Mrs. Riebman's superiors rated her job performance as excellent. "She never abuses benefits and has been exceptional in dependability," Lennon said. "Such dedication has earned Tina much respect from the doctors, nurses and aides she works with and recognition from her peers as February Employee of the Month."

Hospital Administrator Patrick Lennon said Mrs. Riebman was chosen for the honor because she gives 110 percent of herself to her job and to the children she cares for. "She works many overtime hours to keep her unit covered," Lennon explained. "Having no children of her own, she frequently volunteers to work holidays so other nurses can be with their children."

Parents are key to solving problems

By Ed Kovacs
Many times school personnel are confronted with parents who say, "I just don't know what to do with my son/daughter; I've tried everything and nothing seems to work!"

Chances are that parents facing this situation haven't tried "everything" but have failed to be consistent with their approaches. They lock themselves into a feeling of helplessness.

To produce a change in any behavior, children must desire or realize a personal need for change and parents must be consistent with their children in administering both praise and punishment. There are numerous keys to discipline. Parents need to set good examples (role models) for their children. Parents need to establish attitudes toward morals that make children realize that misconduct is disapproved of by both parents and the child as well. Parents should avoid threatening their children. Threats often commit a parent to an undesirable action. Instead, rules should be explained clearly and the consequences of breaking rules should be understood by the child. Consistency on

Billy Earl to perform for Legion

BELLE GLADE—Billy Earl Chapman, better known as just "Billy Earl" will be returning to perform at the American Legion Friday, Feb. 24 at 8 p.m. The admission is free and open to American Legion members and guests.

Glades Central honor roll addition

the part of the parent makes rules effective. When school personnel ask parents if they have discussed the problem with the child or how the child's feelings are toward the problem, the answer in most cases is a surprising, "no." Problems in school occur most often when the parent and child are experiencing crisis situations (divorce, substance abuse, death of a family member, etc.). These situations can cause the child's unacceptable behavior—failing grades, disrespect to authority figures, lack of motivation, etc.

Often when parents feel at the end of the rope in dealing with their child/children, they need to spend some "quality" time with them. Many activities can be done together to establish rapport and trust. Talk out problems. Activities such as taking a walk, riding bicycles, hunting, fishing, etc., are quality times that need to be shared. I believe the idea is clear: that parents should choose any activity that would develop intimacy and trust, i.e., parent sharing their own feelings and thoughts toward different situations, so that there is communication to build solutions between parent and child. Remember it's the "quality" of time applied and not the "quantity" of time. When no time to work with parents this may be difficult to do, but it must be achieved if parents want to understand their children better. There are always weekends to enjoy activities together. Sharing, communicating, and working together produces a trusting atmosphere to establish solutions to solve conflicts.

The solution to the problems confront children relies a lot on how parents deal with the problem itself. Parents are the keys to solutions. Talk with your children and often the solutions to problems may not be as difficult or as hopeless as they appear.
